

For Your Next Meeting Or Conference

A unique, multi-talented speaker... an exciting new program for you!

Benjamin Levy is the favorite of the CEOs of Fortune 500 companies because his programs are entertaining, audience involving, highly personalized, sophisticated and filled with humor and a very special charm.

What does he bring to the table for you? The end of the jaded audience!

His repertoire and audience appeal is so vast that his clients call upon him for many repeat appearances, during the year... and year after year.

Benjamin offers an exciting alternative to the usual authors, motivational and inspirational speakers and marketing mavens - all the "been there, done that" programs which often leave audiences nodding - and not in agreement!

Benjamin is the unique alternative to the same old thing.

You can be sure your guests will never have experienced anyone like him. His signature program includes spellbinding feats of mind-reading and memory.

Incredibly, in just a few moments, he's on a first name basis with everyone in the audience. Benjamin quickly learns and remembers the names of 150 or more people he has just met and says goodbye to each of them by name in the finale of his performance. But it's no dry recitation of names. It is combined with great humor and exchanges with the audience which, time after time, leads to a rousing standing ovation.

Benjamin combines great entertainment with great content.

He includes material in his performance to impart a specific message, marketing concept, introduce a new product or announce a major change in company strategy to your audience. He makes your message completely memorable by using his unforgettable sleight-of-hand skills to...
