

Dr. Paul G. Stoltz is considered the world's leading authority on the integration and application of grit and resilience. He is author of five international bestselling books on the subject—printed in 17 languages—including the top-selling business book in China, and was voted by HR Magazine as “One of the Top 10 most influential global thinkers,” and by Executive Excellence as “One of the 100 Most Influential Thinkers of Our Time.” In the newest book, GRIT—The New Science of What it Takes to Persevere, Flourish, Succeed, he pioneers the first validated construct and method in existence for growing both the quantity and quality of one's GRIT.

Dr. Stoltz has served as faculty for MIT's acclaimed entrepreneurship program and for Carnegie Mellon's distinguished Global Leaders Program, where his AQ and GRIT-related methods and assessments have been used to equip tomorrow's leaders and entrepreneurs. He also serves on various boards, including the advisory board for DocuSign, Board of Directors for Global Mentors Network and several companies focused on earth rejuvenating technologies.

Harvard Business School has selected and incorporated Dr. Stoltz's Adversity Quotient® tools and methods into its top-rated MBA and Executive Education programs and is featuring Dr. Stoltz's newest work on GRIT in a new video series for Harvard Business Review. Dr. Stoltz has also been a member of Stanford University's Distinguished Leaders Lecture Series, was selected as the Millennial Thinker for Singapore, “Thought Leader of the Year” in Hong Kong, and is a top-rated international faculty member for the Young Presidents' Organization. He has guest lectured for Princeton, INSEAD, and Cornell, and has been a featured blogger and author for both th...
