

Of course you know who Wayne Brady is. Whether you watched him on the improv show Whose Line is It Anyway? or caught him as the host of Don't Forget the Lyrics, Brady is one of the most versatile performers in show business today. He defines the term "multi-talented," entertaining audiences with his acting, improv, singing, and dancing on television, film, and the stage.

Currently the host of CBS' iconic daytime show Let's Make A Deal, Brady became well known for his improvisational skills on ABC's Whose Line Is It Anyway?, for which he won an Emmy and earned four Emmy nominations. He went on to host his own syndicated talk/variety show The Wayne Brady Show, picking up two Emmys for Outstanding Talk Show Host. The show also won for Outstanding Talk Show. He also served as host of Fox's hit show Don't Forget the Lyrics, and has guest starred on numerous shows including 30 Rock, The Dave Chappelle Show, How I Met Your Mother, and Everybody Hates Chris.

In 2009, he released his highly anticipated debut album, A Long Time Coming. This collection of contemporary R&B with an "old school" feel impressed both long-time fans as well as those new to his vocal prowess. On the stage, he's received rave reviews for his performance in Rent, and for his hit stage show Makin' It Up, which was called "pure genius," "hysterically funny" and "amazing," all spot on for Brady, who always delivers.
