

Amy Myers Jaffe is a leading expert on the geopolitics of oil, energy, security and risk. Associate director of the Energy Program at Rice University's James A. Baker III Institute for Public Policy, she is a frequent keynote speaker at major energy industry and investment conferences. Her latest book is Oil, Dollars, Debt and Crises.

A widely quoted commentator on oil and energy policy in the international media who has provided testimony on Capitol Hill on energy matters, Amy Myers Jaffe appears regularly on a variety of television news stations and programs including CNN, "The NewsHour with Jim Lehrer," FOX, MSNBC, and National Public Radio. Her writings have been featured by the The New York Times, Dow Jones International, and the Mideast Report.

A contributor to Foreign Policy magazine's "21 Solutions to Save the World" and recipient of the Award for Excellence by the International Association for Energy Economics, Amy Myers Jaffe was among the 2004 "Key Women in Energy-Americas" honorees and was named to Esquire's annual 100 Best and Brightest

Jaffe's long list of accomplishments include serving as a member of the reconstruction and economy working group of the Baker/Hamilton Iraq Study Group and a major contributor to the recent joint Baker Institute/CFR task force on Guiding Principles for U.S. Post-Conflict Policy in Iraq. She has also served as an advisor to the U.S. National Intelligence Council Study on Energy to 2015 and as a principal advisor to USAID's project on Options for Developing a Long Term Sustainable Iraqi Oil Industry

Amy Myers Jaffe is a principal author of the Baker Institute's numerous energy studies that cover energy trends in the Middle East, Caspian Basin, China, Russia and Japan, as well as emerging tech...

Amy Jaffe

Speech Topics

- Technology
- Politics & Current Events
- Going Green
- Energy

