

One of Australia's most famous entrepreneurs, Brian Smith is best known for launching the UGG® sheepskin boot brand in the U.S. After moving to California and selling the now billion-dollar company, Smith launched a second career as a business guru and an exciting, motivational speaker. His humorous, heart-felt style and hard-won business savvy is energizing CEOs, business owners and budding entrepreneurs across the country.

Famous for his Aussie-style humor and hard-won business expertise, Brian Smith is best known for bringing the legendary UGG sheepskin boot brand to the U.S. Just as he propelled UGG to the phenomenal icon that it became, Brian infuses his dynamic personality and visionary flair into unforgettable presentations as a keynoter and a conference speaker.

One of the world's most recognizable entrepreneurs, with a personality as big and as enchanting as his home country, he energizes audiences with his breakthrough "birth-to-adulthood" strategy for translating personal vision into company culture. An entertaining, unforgettable speaker, Brian is also a mentor and a "cheerleader" to dozens of business leaders and entrepreneurs, motivating corporate teams to accomplish all the stages of their business life cycle.
