“ Steve Cadigan received the most outstanding feedback from attendees at our 2013 Human Capital Symposium. Steve provided a straight-forward approach, with interesting key stories which made for an engaging presentation. He was able to connect with our audience - understanding the issues they were facing in our local tech industry, and providing us with ideas from his own expertise at larger organizations and in other jurisdictions. The feedback was universally exceptional - I just wish we'd offered a longer session or subsequent break-out sessions with him for our attendees! ”
