

Benji Bruce started as a mentalist at 10 and began building a business at 13. He built his entertainment business to a point where companies like Remax, AAA, Hilton, Furniture First, Best Buy, and several other companies were flying him all over the world to perform.

Eventually, Benji was getting asked to speak so he combined his mind reading demonstrations with a powerful speaking message on How To Stay Sharp & Stay Ahead.

Instead of just getting on stage to speak, Benji would blow an audience away using mind reading so they could be more engaged with the presentation.

Benji Bruce grew up in a single parent home with 2 siblings. Unfortunately, they didn't have much money so when he began as an entertainer, he had to figure out how to make it on his own.

With tons of support from his mom, Benji started performing in restaurants when he was 13 (his mom had to drive him). He then began reading more and more business books so he could take his hobby and turn it into a real business.

Eventually, he built a business that allowed him to travel the world and he was getting asked to speak on stages and appear on TV.

Benji Bruce was subconsciously reprogramming his mind to grow his entertainment business into a powerhouse. He used techniques he learned as a mentalist and applied them to his own psychology to make him more business-oriented...but you never would have guessed it.

Benji Bruce gets inside people's heads and kept it all to himself for a while. He would see what makes successful people tick and he would apply it to his own business.

As a speaker, Benji now demonstrates how powerful people Stay Sharp & Stay Ahead. He reveals the mental strategies that are programmed into successful people...
