

Anne Grady is an entrepreneur, author and expert in personal and organizational transformation. With a master's degree in organizational communication and over fifteen years of experience, Anne has helped lead organizations toward changes that build teamwork, increase productivity and reduce stress. Her topics cover the entire spectrum of conversations that leaders and their teams need to have to be engaged, productive & profitable.

Anne provides keynote addresses, presentations, and professional development sessions for groups of all sizes around the world. Her work has been featured on CNN, ESPN, FOX Business, CEO Magazine, Investor's Business Daily, Chicago Tribune and more.

With humor, passion and straight talk, she grew her business as a nationally recognized speaker and consultant, while raising her special needs child. Anne shares the lessons she has learned in her new book, 52 Strategies for Life, Love & Work.

To book Anne Grady call Executive Speakers Bureau at 901-754-9404.

Anne Grady

Speech Topics

- Teambuilding
- Resilience
- Personal Growth
- Life Balance
- Leadership
- Female Motivational

Testimonials

"I attend a LOT of events - conferences, seminars, workshops; I've seen many well-paid speakers at the top of their game. And I can honestly say that no one does it better than Anne. She's funny, honest, articulate, and inspiring. She has a no-nonsense approach and a wealth of research-based training that not only gets the audience on their feet but changes how they work back at their desk, too. Any organization who can get her will be thanking their lucky stars as they see increases in teamwork, productivity, motivation and smiles."

- VP of Content Strategy, SiteGoals LLC.

"Anne has been one of our primary L&D consultants for some time. She's been invaluable to our organizational development programs. She is a terrific presenter who fosters engagement with creative exercises, interactive learning and personal storytelling. We repeatedly get extremely positive feedback from participants in her classes. She brings a wealth of experience and expertise to help build our programs to be among the most sought after at our company."

- Marketing Education and Product Manager, Dell.