

Tim Clue has developed a dynamic compound—redefining “motivation” as Connection and Trust—creating the perfect blend of laughter, philosophy and inspiration for every keynote he delivers. With a firm grasp of the attention economy in this age of acceleration, Tim’s style reflects the chaos and speed in with which we now work and live. Audiences experience the full force of a life-long educator’s gift to magnify his own ideas through his skillsets in comedy and improv, teaching, speaking, facilitating, teaching and team-development. Discovering his greatest inspirations from a collection of worst practices and fabulous failures, this instructive ringleader has mastered the use of humor as a tool—compelling, unique, interactive, and fun—to bring forth inspiring and engaging experiences for conferences, conventions, management gatherings, client appreciation events, and educational in-services and staff days. Tim unites Millennials, GenXers and Boomers alike in an unforgettable encounter, his energy underscoring and reflecting the realities of this over-stimulated and distracted emailing, Facebooking, Tweeting world in which we now find ourselves living and working.

Clue’s story is noteworthy. After a decade as an award-winning educator, Tim managed to carve out a comedy career on the national circuit, working with many well-known comics—such as Jerry Seinfeld, Steven Wright and Larry Miller—and his standup can be heard on XM/Sirius Satellite Radio’s comedy channels. In 2005, his stage play “Leaving Iowa” premiered at Jeff Daniels’ Purple Rose Theatre Company—during which it received a nomination for American Theatre Critics’ award for Best New Play in the country—and was soon published and is currently performed in theaters all over the...

Testimonials

“Thanks for a fantastic performance. I think it went great; folks had a really good time. Your timing and transitions were most artistic. You had that ‘sixth sense’ working... great job.”

- Fast Signs International, Inc.

“Your presentation today to us was amazing, inspirational, and even more needed than my Monday cup of coffee. Thank you!” | “Tim was an absolute rock star on Monday! Our teaching community was thrilled to be treated to such a respectful, funny, and thought provoking message. Our teachers are still talking about what a treat it was to have you there. This is the first time we have kicked off the year with a message of appreciation with the hopes of inspiring them at the start of the year. Thanks to you, our goal was accomplished.”
