

The world of Artificial Intelligence is changing so rapidly that it can feel difficult to keep up. But JEREMY GUTSCHE says that when your life has been turned inside out, that's the perfect time to create the future. Described as "an intellectual can of Red Bull," Jeremy is one of the most requested innovation consultants on the planet, helping everyone from Google to Disney navigate change and thrive through disruption—he even helped NASA prototype the journey to Mars! As the founder and CEO of Trend Hunter, the world's #1 AI trend platform, he's been at the cutting edge of AI innovation for over a decade. The author of multiple New York Times bestselling books, Jeremy shows us—with his unrivaled energy and humor—how to not only navigate but take advantage of chaos, tap into your AI opportunity today, and usher in the Super Future.

Everything is changing so quickly—how do we find the opportunity in the disruption we face every day? Jeremy Gutsche's latest talk explores how we can take advantage of this unique moment, rising from the chaos to come back better than before. Since the release of his award-winning first book Exploiting Chaos, Jeremy has become a world-class expert on innovating through times of uncertainty. When he's not touring the globe as a futurist and sought-after innovation speaker, Jeremy is the CEO of Trend Hunter—the world's #1 largest trend-spotting platform driven by artificial intelligence. Imagine the insight from a focus group made up of 100 million people—that's Trend Hunter. He's been delivering AI workshops, advisory services, and 10,000 trend reports based on Trend Hunter's AI platform for the better part of the past decade. Jeremy has been incorporating AI into his innovation since before almost anyone else, and he can ...
