

Marco Tempest is a frequent keynote speaker at tech conferences around the world, a creative consultant at the NASA Jet Propulsion Laboratory, an Accenture Luminary, and the Accenture Lead Consultant for Extended Reality, and a Director's Fellow at the MIT Media Lab. Marco is the executive director of the NYC MagicLab, a science consortium exploring illusion and digital technology. Applications include media, marketing, entertainment, and the prototyping of future technologies via immersive experiences.

Marco is deeply embedded in the tech industry and has regular interactions with product teams in an advisory capacity or as a consultant or developer for prototype consumer technologies.

He currently serves as an Accenture Luminary and the Accenture Lead Consultant for Extended Reality.

Marco has been invited as a visionary presenter to the "Seoul Digital Forum" and the TEDxTokyo conference and presented his keynote to the xDays Leadership conference in Switzerland. His work is constantly changing as new technologies evolve; Marco Tempest finds captivating ways of turning those advances into compelling illusions.

Your options are as limitless as Marco's creativity. Build brand identity. Conduct a virtual demonstration of a new product. Invite audience members into a digital-world of their design. Whatever the theme, Marco will translate your communication objectives into an astounding and unforgettable performance. Each performance - perfectly styled for your corporate brand and theme - can be of any length and can include astonishing executive reveals and extraordinary opening, closing, and interstitial segments. Enhance your next meeting, whatever the size, with the magic of Marco Tempest.

Marco Tempest

Speech Topics

- ☐ TED Talks
- ☐ Technology
- ☐ Sales
- ☐ Magic
- ☐ Humor
- ☐ Entertainment

