Testimonials

□ Dave Donnan recently moderated an innovation and technology panel at our annual food industry program. Dave is an excellent moderator and engaging speaker challenging our panelists with very thought-provoking questions about the innovation and expansion of food trade from both local and global perspectives. He is highly prepared, well read and understands the industry, often adding his expert opinion to the conversation. His overall preparation, coordination with his panelists and knowledge of the food industry brought out the best in our panel discussion. In our follow-up survey of the program, Dave received the highest ratings from our attendees. We are looking forward to working with him again in the future. □ to fork"). Dave consistently receives the highest ratings from attendees of our events - on a number of topics, over a number of years. He stays current on threats and opportunities; indeed, he is ahead of the curve and in the vanguard of emerging issues. He is a polished and professional speaker with a great stage presence when giving a keynote and an engaging style when moderating. His presentations are knowledge and data based, punctuated by high quality and compelling visuals, which complement his delivery. Dave thoroughly prepares - both himself and the participants when in the role of moderator. His assiduous attention to detail ensures that everyone is at their best, delivering high-quality, impactful messages to the intended audience. He strives to bring the audience into his presentations and panel discussions. He is relaxed and comfortable on stage and engages easily with people. Dave will have speaking slots at our events as long as he has the appetite to present to the food retailing and consumer goods industry leadership. □
