Testimonials

I have known Michael Fath for over 20 years. During this span of time, I have come to know Michael as a creative, and very talented individual. He is an incredibly gifted speaker and writer, who understands how to motivate people, and is able to provide guidance and instruction in a manner which most people can understand easily. I would more than highly recommend Michael for any speaking engagement for which he may be considered.

I would like to offer my highest recommendation for Mr. Michael Fath for your next speaking engagement. As a former public speaker myself I am well aware of the qualities that are prerequisite for successful speaking engagements and can attest that Michael will perform at the highest levels and quickly become an audience favorite...Fath's life experiences provide a rare and rich backdrop for stories that are captivating, entertaining, enlightening and have you smiling ear to ear...Spending time with Michael Fath is truly a window into a world that most of us will never know and yet we discover that the motivations, the passions, the struggles, and the successes are all the stuff of which our own lives are made. Michael immediately becomes friends and with everyone he meets (audiences included) and there is not anyone whom will not benefit from having Michael in their circle of friends and influences. His honesty, authenticity, heart, spirit and soul are qualities on display for all to see and you will no doubt come away from a speaking engagement with both admiration for his person and a new fire for the spirit within you.
