

Matt Anderson is senior vice president of policy and chief strategy officer for the Minnesota Hospital Association. Before joining the hospital association in 2006, he handled complex litigation and public policy issues for the Minnesota Attorney General's Office, the Hennepin County Attorney's Office, and Minnesota State Colleges and Universities. He also served as the intellectual capital leader and principal for Mercer's Government Human Services Consulting sector, and is the founder of Atrede Consulting.

Matt has provided strategic planning, board governance and meeting facilitation services to a broad range of organizations, especially in the health care sector. In particular, he has extensive experience with strategic planning activities for hospitals, long-term care providers, group purchasing organizations, and state hospital and long-term care associations. He is a frequent speaker on a wide range of health care topics including state and federal health care trends, payment and delivery reform, insurance markets and reforms, rural health care, health care financing, and community benefits, even occasionally drawing upon other fields such as behavioral economics, theoretical physics and Broadway musicals. Anderson is a graduate of St. John's University and received his law degree from the University of Minnesota.
