

Whether putting together a seminar based on proven business experience or delivering a keynote in an enthusiastic manner, no one does it better than Doug Jones. That is why Buck Rogers selected Doug to work directly with him in bringing to the marketplace a full day's program outlining the techniques of motivation and leadership. That is why organizations call him back many times as both an educator and keynote speaker.

Doug brings a very honest and up to date perspective on how to be successful leaders in these very changing and competitive environments we deal in today. He is humorous, insightful and, most importantly, very believable.

His presentations and messages have been rated at the very top. He knows what businesses need to do and suggests many ways on how to get it done. He is a breath of fresh air and his comments are right on target.

Doug Jones was with IBM for twelve years in many capacities, including as a National Speaker presenting executive computer concepts to societies, associations and trade organizations. To book leadership speaker Doug Jones call Executive Speakers Bureau 901-754-9404.
