

Losing his successful football career at 35 to a serious injury, Joe Theismann learned firsthand how to think, analyze and reinvent in the face of adversity and change.

The most successful quarterback in the history of the Washington Redskins, Joe Theismann is also a world-class entrepreneur whose positive, high-energy presentations provide audiences with strategies for handling trying circumstances and dealing with unforeseen change. Theismann always goes the extra mile to inspire your team to excellence, showing how passion, leadership and teamwork all combine to create a comprehensive game plan for success.

As a successful businessman, he always challenges audiences to recognize the potential that lies within—as individuals and as members of a team. Voted the NFL's Most Valuable Player, inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame and twice named both the Pro Bowl's Most Valuable Player and the NFL's Man of the Year, Theismann led his team to the Super Bowl XVII championship.

Known for his long-standing community service efforts, Theismann currently sits on the Sports Advisory Board of the St. Jude Children's Hospital. Theismann was an Emmy award-winning analyst for two decades on ESPN's critically acclaimed, Sunday Night and Monday Night NFL broadcasts.
